IAMI2I.COM

iami2i.com is a website that showcases individuals from all different backgrounds. The website publishes interviews of random people, from NFL players to single moms, throughout the United States about their fitness and health journey in order to show people the "real" inspiration and someone they can connect to. When iami2i client approached us with their idea, they wanted a simple yet interesting design. After analyzing their target user base, our design and development team created a responsive design using HTML5, CSS3, Javascript and JS. The website is all about fitness interviews, stories and photos. So we created two different sections to showcase the main works of the website – Stories and Series.

Technology: WordPress, MySql, HTML5, CSS3
